MODIFICATIONS TO 201 DATAPHONE SOFTWARE

A change has been made in one of the 201 dataphone programs, and one has been added.

The routine GEDIAL has been modified so that it dials only extensions 5380, 5381, and 5382. This has been done because one of the DATANET extensions is no longer in service.

A new program, GEKILL, has been written to gracefully remove jobs from the GE QUEUE. It is callable from system level. Due to its' destructive potential, GEKILL may only be executed by a user logged on to the master password. If called from any other password, GEKILL will respond with a question mark.
